Knowing Your Neighbour

Jensen & Selina Koharjo

How do you define luxurious lifestyle? For some, it is not about having the most shiny things or the highest price tag. Luxurious lifestyle can be related to practicality, like being able to enjoy simple things in life, which in turns leads to a comfortable lifestyle.

Jensen Koharjo used to work in the banking industry until he was retired. He said that family time is precious and should not be taken for granted, which is why nowadays, he spends his time with his two beautiful daughters, Sharon and Selina Koharjo. While their daily activities consist of different things, Jensen and Selina both have the same hobby of traveling and trying out new food.

Jensen day goes by reading the stock markets, working out, and then he proceeds to do investment research or attend meetings, while Selina starts her day doing exercises before heading to work. After work, Selina studies Mandarin and aims to read a new book once a month. From there, the two are reunited in the evening as they have a nice family dinner at home.

“Beyond the prime locations, all St. Regis properties are reputable for its exemplar interior design and whenever I walk inside a St. Regis lobby, I am always amazed”

These family values would later become a more prominent factor in her life as she spent almost 6 years in the United States. A student of University of Southern California (USC), Selina also spent some time away working in the States after graduating before finally coming back. When asked, she said that spending more family time was the main reason, she facetiously said that she was tired of seeing her family photos in her WhatsApp group and instead wanted to be in those photos herself.

Selina and her father have always lived in an apartment since she was little. Growing up in this environment, she always loved the convenience, facilities, and accessibilities of an apartment, an answer that is analogous to her father's. Gym, pool, and mini-mart were among the things she mentions that ease her life, but perhaps more than that, Selina enjoyed meeting and getting to know her neighbours and always loved the idea of a community in an apartment.

For Jensen, choosing the right apartment in Jakarta ultimately comes down to 3 important factors. First and foremost is the location, he prefers to live in an area that is close to places he frequently goes to, and considering the notorious traffic in Jakarta,

I think we can all agree on this one. Second, is the room layout, he continues by saying that square layout is the go to choice as it is the most space efficient layout. The third and final factor is amenities and facilities, for him personally, an accessible gym is very important to his daily routine.

“So why St. Regis?” we asked. “Whenever I travel to a new city, The St. Regis hotels will always be among the top luxurious choices. Beyond the prime locations, all St. Regis properties are reputable for its exemplar interior design and whenever I walk inside The St. Regis lobby, I am always amazed with the beautiful design and art choices.” Furthermore, he states that he wants to live in a residence that embodies luxury and be able to come home feeling “wowed” everyday.

Jensen however, doesn't consider himself living a luxurious lifestyle but rather a comfortable lifestyle. He relates practicality to luxury by enjoying simple pleasures such as watching TV with a glass of fine wine and spending some quality time with his family. When asked about the future, both Jensen and Selina both said that they want to travel to new places and savour in some new dishes together.
